Headline:
Rain clearing this evening. Mostly dry tomorrow before rain later.

This Evening and Tonight:
Rain slowly clears eastwards though the evening, leaving a mostly dry night. Cloud cover may become patchy during the early hours allowing some isolated fog patches to develop in prone locations. Winds will be light throughout. Minimum temperature 2 deg C (36 deg F).

Wednesday:
Any showers clear early in the morning, leaving a dry day for most. A few afternoon sunny spells are possible. Rain then arrives from the southwest later in the evening. Maximum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Showery Thursday morning, then turning dry briefly before further rain arrives during the night. Drier Friday, though patchy rain and showers continue for some. Dry, bright and cold on Saturday.
